

ABSTRACT

The present invention describes aromatized particles containing aromatized vegetable oil contained within a shell of a water soluble encapsulant such that upon dissolution with hot water a burst of aroma will be released. The process to produce the aromatized particles is also set forth.